

I am against allowing one company to be able to own all forms of media or too many radio stations. It is hard enough for new performers to be heard and companies that have an interest in promoting their own performers will heavily favor their own performers. In essence it will lead to a form of censorship.